

Add titles and links to gallery photos

Give each gallery photo a title and a short description, show or hide them, and make a photo open a page instead of a larger view.

Each photo in a gallery can carry a title, a short description and a button, and can send people to a page when they tap it. Use only what helps. A plain gallery is fine.

Add a title or description

1. Log in to your site editor and open the page with the gallery.
2. Click the gallery, then choose the content option in the small menu that appears. You can also right-click it and choose Edit Content.
3. Click the photo you want to label.
4. Type in Title and Description. The description box lets you use bold, italic and underline.
5. A Button is also available. Each of these three has an eye icon. Click it to hide that item.

If you leave a visible field empty, the space for it stays on the page. Hide any field you aren't using.

Choose where the words show

1. Open the design settings: choose the design option from the small menu, or right-click and choose Edit Design.
2. On the Layout tab, choose Text/button under image, Text/button on hover or Text/button on image, then pick a position.

Words that show on hover only work on a computer, because a phone has no hover. For a phone, choose the version under the photo. If your gallery has a Show image captions switch on the Content tab, it turns on captions when someone rests the mouse on a photo. Check the phone preview. See Check how your site looks on a phone.

1. In the content window, turn on Enable links on gallery images at the top.
2. Click a photo, then click Edit Link and choose where it goes: a page on your site, another website, a popup, a spot lower on the page, an email address and more.
3. Repeat for each photo.

Turning on links turns off the larger-view window. A photo with no link does nothing when tapped. So give a link to every photo, or leave links off.

Finish

Publish. If you don't see a Publish button, tell us and we'll publish it for you.

Tips

- A title and description are separate from a photo's alt text. Fill in the alt text too: see Write alt text in plain words.
- Keep titles short, a few words that tell people what they're looking at.
- To link a single photo elsewhere on your site, see Make a photo link to a page or file.
