

Show your X posts on your site

Show your business's latest X posts on a page. Changes at X can stop it working, so know what to do if it goes blank.

The X feed widget shows your latest posts on a page. It updates by itself when you post. Changes at X can make the widget stop working. Here's how to set it up, and what to do if it does.

Before you start

- Use your business's X account, not a personal one.
- The account must be public. A private account only shows for visitors who happen to be signed in to X in another tab of their browser.

Steps

1. Log in to your site editor and open the page.
2. Add the X feed widget. It may be listed as Twitter Feed. See Add a widget to a page.
3. Click the widget, then choose its content settings from the small menu that appears.
4. Type your X user name.
5. Choose the type of feed from the dropdown.
6. To show the header and footer, switch on Show header and footer.
7. Click the widget again and choose its design settings. Use the Number of tweets to display dropdown to choose how many posts show.
8. Publish. If you don't see a Publish button, tell us and we'll publish it for you.
9. Open the page on a computer and a phone to check that your posts appear.

If it goes blank

Changes at X can stop the widget from showing posts, and that isn't something you did wrong. Email us the page and your X user name. We'll look at the page and try another way to show your posts.

Tips

- If you post on X rarely, consider a link instead. An X icon that links to your account is a simple alternative. See Add social media icons.
- The widget only shows what you post on X. We don't post for you.

Need a hand?
